

The Ludington Daily News has an opening in the news department for a general assignment reporter. The Ludington Daily News is the leader in providing Mason County with local news. The applicant must have a background in writing, excellent grammatical skills, know how to use a camera, have reliable transportation, strong skills using various social media and internet and use of AP Style. Knowledge in pagination using InDesign is helpful.

Send up to six writing samples and resume to Publisher Ray McGrew at rmcgrew@cmgms.com or Managing Editor David Bossick at editor@ludingtondailynews.com